

Human Rights!

Every human has the right to be recognized as a valuable human being.

Every human has the right to be treated fairly and feel a sense of well being.

Every human has the right to be loved and give love.

This is a blessing and privilege from the highest source above.

Every human being has the right to be valued, no matter their class or race.

Their existence is important to the human race in any case.

Every human being has the right to fair trial, as justice is not prejudice or ever should be in denial.

Every human being has the right to be an individual, as all men were created equal but not the same.

Therefore it is required that one should be true to who they are and have an individual Aim.

Every human being has the right to pursue their own life purpose, the reason for their existence. Even if they choose to travel the road of least resistance.

T Jackson