

The Cubbington Pear Tree or Death of a Superhero

Though I have stood here for two hundred and fifty years now I am an obstacle to progress, it appears.
The cost is too great for me to be circumvented
so only with my downfall will you be contented.
These purple bands denote imminent execution,
my total destruction is your final solution.
Wielding howling weapons you strike down all in your path driving ever forwards heedless of the aftermath.
While passively I submit to annihilation,
Mother Nature will respond in retaliation.

Amy Clennel