

Think of us now

It's not just you humans who wish to be heard
So please let us fauna and flora spread the word

This is a plea to all mankind
Before our like to dusty archives is consigned

We share this globe, we have our place
Let us coexist with the human race

Man, you have divided by descent and nation
Yet evolution's alchemy fostered all creation

The human brain spawned industrialization
Your achievements, a cause for celebration

But look at the plight of other forms of life
See how your actions have caused us strive

Those of us that feel free in the air ...
Fly through pollution and ascending despair

Fumes, fossil fuels, gases, growing heat
Cease your poisoning, we do entreat

Those of us that thrive on land ...
Find our well-trod trails and habitats - banned

Farming, forests, concrete jungle, motorways
Halt your destructive, bulldozing ways

Those of us that dwell in bodies of water ...

Subjected to contamination, slaughter

Chemicals, rising temperature, plastic, nets
Stop your toxic constant threats

We beg you, look to a future we cannot be seen
Our lives extinguished, it's just obscene

Your lives poorer for our loss ... a memory
In your hands... you already have the remedy

Look after the environment

Ensure... all species entitlement

It's ours to cherish, and share as one

Time to act, before all is gone.
