

For the love of the Earth

During my long and everlasting reign
And my ancient journeys throughout time
I've seen many creatures evolve and take shape
Then leave the nest and fly high in the sky
I've seen thriving streams and rivers calm
And giant branches with hanging palms
Through the heat and cold a placid mood was dence
In the fabulous air was sweet incense
There were many forests in the olden days
When the world was different in so many ways
All my plants and trees were ever green
There was extensive wildlife to be seen
Beautiful bluebells spread over the floor
Like a rich blue carpet four by four
Rabbits hopped and gentle deer ran
Next to the river as fast as they can
In the artic polar bears roam
But now melted ice caps cannot be called home
I hold on to faded memories of how life used to be
When I was so round, proud and grand
